WEDNESDAY MORNING, NOV. 22.

We are glad that some one has seen it to move in this matter, and that we diately, and strictly enforced. Will the fit of the seen that the devantages that will accrue from this institution will be of incalculable benefit to our business men. We hope to soon chronicle the complete organization of the Board.

We are glad that some one has seen diately, and strictly enforced. Will the clivy Marshal look to it?—Clereland Heradd.

The same is true of this city. We would not wish to deprive the boys of this healthful sport, but they ought not to engage in it along the streets and our choice of occupation, and irresistably came to the conclusion that we had missed our calling.

"YE LOCAL."—Yesterday was the soleward, where they are hable to annoy and endanger persons passing.

MUNICIPAL COURT.—In the municipal court yesterday the following business was disposed of:

In the case of Robert Luke vs. B. Taylor Frost, on a demurrer to pleas, the unit was conflued until the least that the least that the least the l bly came to the conclusion that we had missed our calling.

Many persons imagine that it is no trouble to get up locals. To such we would say, "Try it, once." They say, "All you have to do, is, hunt up the items, and the work is done." These people remind us of the Irishman in America, who wrote to his friend in the old country to "come over here, by all means; it is the best country for a poor man in the world; all he has to do is to get a three-cornered box and carry it full of brick up to the top of a house, and there is a man up there who does all the work."

It is no trouble to get up items when It was continued until the next term.

Taylor Frost, on a demurrer to all there is a man up there who does all the work."

It is no trouble to get up items when there is anything to write about. We have all heard of the man who directed his boy to go and get him some beer, and when asked for the money told the youth that he wanted him to get it without money, that anybody could get beer with money. The boy went and returned, and told his father to drink the beer. The old gentleman antempted to do so, but found that there was none, and enquired of his son how he expected him to drink beer when he knew there was none. The boy replied that that was what he wanted him to dot drink beer when there was none, that any man could drink it when it was plentiful. So it is with the "locals." Anybody can write locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when the subjects are plentiful, but the "trick of the trade" is to get up locals when there is nothing to write about.

Any man who has ever occupied the position of a "local" knows full well the trials of such a situation; to those who have never experienced this feeling, we say, please be generous with us when we are dull and short, and we promise you, in return for your charity, that when there is anything at all going on we will serve it up to you just as fresh and full as we know how.

"When will parents, living near railroad tracks, take warning, and keep a sharp eye on their little innocent children, who are allowed to roam at will? (Papers from tracks and Railroad depots, about which railroad officials complain." We have before frequently referred to the matter of parents allowing their children to play about the railroad stations and tracks. Frequently we have been called on to record the death or serious disablement of some child in the city, and yet any day we can see small children by the dozen playing about the Rail dren by the dozen playing about the rail referred to occur, and we are confident that just so long as no authority is exercised by parents over children in this matter, just so long will these little innocents be the subjects of disaster. A little caution and wholesome authority shown by parents now may save them much grief in the future.

The General Covirt-Martial.—On Saturday, before this tribunal, the trial of Col. N. G. Axtell, of the 1924 New York volunteers, was brought to a close and the final decision passed by the court. The accused was charged with having fraudulently held the bounties of soldiers in his command, and with having written, last summer, a letter direct to Gon. O. O. Howard and to the War Department, containing certain imputations against the character of his superior officer, Brevet Major General T. W. Engan, commanding the Army of the Shenandoah. A lengthy defense was read by the accused, and the judge advocate, Major L. R. Stegman, presented an argument for the prosecution. The record, consisting of about 80 pages, was sent to headquarters for examination and approval on Saturday, but the findings and sentence of the court will not be made public for several weeks.—Baltimore Sim.

It will be remembered by our readers that Col. Axtell was at onatime in processing the containing in the character of the court will not be made public for several weeks.—Baltimore Sim.

Advices received in the city from Capt. Charley Muhleman, at Cincinnati, state that the work on the Phil. Sheridan, the new Wheeling and Cincinnati packet, is progressing finely. As we have before said, when done, she will be as fine a craft as travels on our waters. She will be finished, we understand, about Christmas.

SOLDIERS' SOCIETIES. - We observe that in some of our neighboring cities re-turned soldiers have organized various kind of societies, generally having for their object the perpenantion or promotheir object the perpenation or promotion of the old army friendships and acquaintanceships. Why cannot we have some such organization as this here? The city is full of returned soldiers, and we think that many of them could readily be induced to join a society of the above named character, if somebody would only move in the matter. How would it do to call a meeting, and have the matter fairly stated?

WE call the particular attention of the City Marshal and the police to a gaine now being played on the streets, by the boys, to the annoyance and dan-ger of passers. We allude to the game of "shinney." As played now in this city, stones or blocks of hard wood are brooked by slubs with great yielence. A BOARD OF TRADE.—We learn that yesterday a gentleman of this city called on a number of our business men to ascertain their views in regard to organizing a Board of Trade here, and that, so far as he went, not a single person was met who opposed the proposition, but, on the contrary, all who were consulted expressed themselves as highly pleased with, and in favor of the subject.
